12. Objection to Bark Notice - Yuri Schokking and Leita McKellar - Dog named "Kobe" (continued)

Document number R8834, agenda pages 34 - 59 refer.

Deliberation

Consideration of Facts

The Chair noted that the application by Yuri Shokking and Leita McKellar objected to a barking dog notice in relation to their dog Kobe.

The Dog Control Act Section 55 provided that an objector may object and the Hearings Panel could consider the objection and may confirm, modify or cancel the notice.

The Panel heard evidence from EIL officers that they had two complaints in early 2017 about a dog barking in the vicinity of 82 Bisley Ave. On 9 January 2017 EIL sent an information letter to neighbours. Officers received a subsequent complaint in 18 January 2017. On 31 July 2017 officers received a further complaint and on 9 August 2017 completed a letterbox drop to adjacent properties in order to gauge the extent of the nuisance. The Panel heard from Animal Control Officer Sandy Vale that she had carried out sound checks on four separate occasions on 2,9,23 and 24 August 2017. She reported she heard no barking from that address even though she was on site for 90 minutes in total duration.

On 25 August 2017 a further complaint was received from another complainant in response to the letterbox drop over two weeks previously. This complaint advised that barking had been going on for the previous year to eighteen months.

The panel heard from the original complainant Mr Ware, who lives on the high side of 115 Moana Ave between 35-60 metres away. There were periods that barking went for up to an hour, others when it didn't happen. The weather was hot and he had his windows open. He spoke about previous dealings with the applicants a number of years ago and his reasons for not approaching the applicants in more recent times. Mr Ware also said he was a retired broadcaster, he knew sound direction and the types and origins of sounds. Mr Ware also provided detailed bark logs for a period of 9 Jan - 28 March and 1 August - 31 August 2017.

The Panel also heard from the applicants Yuri Shokking and Leita McKellar. Ms McKellar spoke of the incident about when the complainant arrived at their property about six years previously and described his manner as being aggressive. It appeared there had been no direct dealings since that time. She provided evidence that at least seven dogs were resident in the close neighbourhood but not registered to the street. The family have lived at the address for 16-17 years, there had been two dogs on the property for 14 years who had since died and been replaced with the dog that is subject to the complaints. The first they knew about it was when a neighbour visited to say they had had a visit from the Council to say they had a barking dog complaint. They contacted Mr Lawrence from EIL at the time. They noted that the dog doesn't sleep outside at night, sleeps in the house and is never left outside when they are not at home but is in the garage. She had since spoken to 10 different neighbours who advised no complaints and provided documentation. The family had gone to considerable lengths to have a dog behavioural assessment completed from Bark Busters in Christchurch and a local trainer, Vicky Pickering. Both concluded Kobe was a good dog with no problematic behavioural issues. Vicky Pickering provided advice about additional training and options including a bark log from a recording collar. The bark log noted one or less barks per hour for the duration of the testing period 8 - 17 December 2017.

There hadn't been a complaint in six months and Mr Ware confirmed that there had been no problems in recent times. Ms McKellar provided a copy of the Council's service request which she had received via a LGOIMA request. She claimed there was conflicting evidence when it said there were nine checks carried out. The log confirmed evidence from the Dog Control officer that she had completed the bark checks as above but had been in the area on additional occasions.

Reason for the Decision

The Panel was satisfied that the applicants had implemented sufficient measures and taken all reasonable steps to ameliorate any issue. Those measures included use of a bark collar to check barking; behavioural assessment; no complaint in the last six months; the dog remaining inside the property when owners were not home and at night time. The panel was not satisfied that the barking had been unreasonable to the level indicated because the frequency of barking was not substantiated, noise issues had subsided and there was evidence of other dogs in the neighbourhood.

Decision

The Objection was upheld and the bark notice was cancelled.

Resolved HEA/2018/005

13. Objection to Classification of a Dog as Dangerous - Mr Robertus Schiefer and Ms Silvia Randma - Dog named "Ebba" (continued)

Document number R8833, agenda pages 60 - 89 refer.

Deliberation:

Consideration of Facts

The Chair noted that the objection was to the classification of a dangerous dog known as Ebba, owned by Mr Robertus Schiefer and Ms Silvia Randma. Throughout the hearing they were represented by Mr Brett Daniel-Smith

Under section 3 of the Dog Control Act, the Panel considering any Objection needed to consider the evidence which formed the basis of the original classification of dangerous dog, recognise the steps taken by owners to prevent a threat to any persons or animal and consider matters put forward by the applicants and any relevant matters.

In November 2017 a German Wirehaired Pointer named Ebba chased and attacked a cat named Tilly at the frontage of No 8 Gipps St. The attack was seen by a fourteen year old who lived at that address and who provided a sworn statement regarding the attack.

As a result of the attack the cat was taken to a Veterinary clinic in Nelson with extensive and substantial injuries requiring five hours of surgery to the value of $7,000; the treatment was unsuccessful and a decision was made to euthanise the cat. The facts were not in dispute.

Ebba was trained and bred as a hunting dog and had been involved in hunting feral cats. There was no dispute that Tilly was a domestic animal much loved by her owner Andrea Taylor of 23 Clovelly St. There was ample justification for the dog to be designated as dangerous.

Since the incident the owners had taken steps to completely fence their property and remove trees which were a shelter for cats; they had also retrained the dog as an indicator dog; paid the veterinary bill without equivocation and had fitted a muzzle on the dog when on a lead in public.

There was a letter of support and the Panel heard from Lawson Davey – an officer with Nelson Marlborough region of Fish and Game NZ. He talked of his experience of working with hunting dogs for more than 20 years and he had a lot of contact with both pointers and labradors. He indicated that Ebba was young dog but fully mature and that Mr Schiefer spent a considerable amount of time, money and effort to train the dog. He acknowledged that at the end of the day it is a dog and dogs tend to regard their property as territory. He noted that German Shorthaired Pointers are highly strung, the German Wirehaired Pointer is less so and the Labrador is more even tempered.

Other relevant matters for the Panel were that they were concerned to hear from Mr Schiefer that he took Ebba to work with him on his job as a builder and Ebba was used as an onsite deterrent dog to protect his tools.

Reason for the Decision

The Panel considered that the dog's temperament was appropriate to guard his possessions and was a factor in the dog's response.

The Panel acknowledged Mr Schiefer and Ms Randma had gone to considerable lengths to ameliorate the situation by reimbursing the veterinary fees and enclosing the dog on their property. However the Panel believed that the dog's temperament was such that there was a risk when in public places. The dog resides in a suburban area where the risk of its natural response as a hunting dog is elevated. The controls imposed through a dangerous dog classification include muzzling and neutering and these measure will reduce the risk to an acceptable level.

Decision

The Panel dismissed the objection and upheld the classification of Ebba as a dangerous dog.

Resolved HEA/2018/006

That the Hearings Panel - Other

Receives the report Objection to Classification of a Dog as Dangerous - Mr Robertus Schiefer and Ms Silvia Randma - Dog named "Ebba" (R8833) and its attachments (A1913472, A1913478, A1913491, A1876343 and A1878144); and

Dismisses the objection of Mr Robertus Schiefer and Ms Silvia Randma; and Upholds the classification of "Ebba" as dangerous.

14. Application for naming of a Private Right of Way - 253, 255 and 255A Nayland Road (Continued)

Document number R8966, agenda pages 29 - 33 refer.

Deliberation:

The Chair noted that the applicant wanted Council to name a shared driveway between 253, 255 and 255a Nayland Road.

He noted the Resource Consent reason decision point C – the application does not propose to allow persons on the subject site to use the right of way access to the south. He noted there was no implied right for one right of way to use the other right of way. No 255 had the right to use the driveway but this was not reciprocal.

The applicant was requesting Council to overrule the legal easements to allow for current or prospective use. While there might be no easement to cover the two driveways on a legal basis, the Panel felt that the legal use of the driveways should prevail and therefore naming the private right of way was not appropriate. Given that the right of way servicing 253 Nayland Road was a separate entity from the existing right of way servicing 255 and 255a Nayland Road and there was no legal easements covering the three properties the Panel declined to note the name of Rose Way in Council records.

Resolved HEA/2018/007

That the Hearings Panel:

Receives the report Application for naming of a Private Right of Way 253, 255 and 255A Nayland Road, and its attachment (A1909837); and Declines to note the name of "Rose Way" for the private Right of Way servicing lots 1 and 2 DP 8019, (255 and 255A Nayland Road), and Proposed Lots 1 to 4 on the Scheme Plan for Resource Consent RM175063 (253 Nayland Road) in Attachment 1 (A1909837) to this report R8966.
