8. Objection to Classification of dogs Boston and Rarka as menacing. Kyran Taylor and Talia Samuels.

Document number R17007, agenda pages 20 - 55 refer.

Environmental Inspections Limited Team Leader – Regulatory, Brian Wood, presented the report. He introduced the parties involved in the matter being objector Mr Kyran Taylor and Dog Control Officers Sandy Vale, Jeff Welch and Bill Gaze.

The Chairperson introduced the Panel and confirmed with Mr Taylor that he had no objections to them being on the Panel.

The Panel heard from each of the parties in turn.

Mr Wood summarised the incident as follows:

- On 20 February 2020 Nelson City Council (NCC) received a report from Wilson Dental about a dog that was roaming on his property, with no collar on, scaring the customers, and preventing entry to the property.
- Dog Control Officer Bill Gaze attended, but could not get near the dog, as it was aggressive. This dog was later identified as Boston, an unregistered pitbull cross. Mr Gaze returned to NCC.
- Another call was received to say the dog had returned to the property at 82 Waimea Road.
- At this point Dog Control Officer Mr Welch went along also. Because of the aggressive nature of the dogs, Mr Gaze and Mr Welch decided to call in a third officer, Sandy Vale.

- The three officers subsequently made the decision to impound the dogs. The dogs were captured using a catch pole for safety reasons, moved to dog control vehicles and taken to the pound.
- Due to the nature and behaviour observed, both dogs were classified as menacing. The dogs were not registered at the time but registered shortly after.

Mr Wood answered questions from the Panel, noting:

- No other incidents were known other than the dogs not being registered.
- A menacing classification was permanent but that a request could be made to be remove the classification.
- A menacing classification would require the dogs to be neutered and muzzled in public.
- The dog Boston was the only dog at the dental practice.
- There were no known prior instances of the dog/s jumping the fence.
- Mr Gaze identified the dog at the address- as the same dog that was on the dental premises and as also identified by Mr Wilson
- The second dog, Rarka, along with the dog Boston, was running loose at 80 Waimea Road.

Mr Wood answered a question from Mr Taylor, noting:

- The second call to NCC Customer Services mentioned that Mr Wilson had seen the dog before, but this was contrary to the subsequent statement from Mr Wilson. He noted it was possible that Mr Wilson had seen another dog on an earlier occasion.

Mr Wood and Mr Gaze noted further in response to questions, that the classifications of menacing:

- For the dog Boston, applied because of its behaviours during the visit to 80 Waimea Road and because of its presence at the dental clinic at 82 Waimea Road, as legislation allowed for a territorial authority to classify a dog as menacing where the dog was considered to pose a threat to a person, and
- For the dog Rarka, applied because of the observation of its behaviour by three experienced dog control officers.

Mr Taylor tabled three supporting documents (A2437269): a certificate from Victory Vets showing the dog Rakah [sic] had been neutered, an email from Nelson College and an email from David Wilson.

The meeting was adjourned from 10.49a.m. to 10.52a.m.

The Panel heard from Mr Taylor:

- The dogs were aggravated by stones being thrown and people kicking the gate to the property.
- The female dog Rarka was heavily pregnant at the time. Mr Taylor noted there was a lot of noise on the day and the dogs would have been frightened.

Mr Taylor answered questions from the Panel about the age of the dogs, the reasons for not registering them, whether he had owned dogs before, and where he had lived previously.

The Panel invited Mr Wood to give closing comments.

Mr Wood noted that:

- a member of the public had contacted the council with concerns about a threatening dog,
- three experienced dog control officers had responded and considered both dogs to have considerable bite risks which meant they were justifiably classified as menacing,
- the dog expert hired by the objector had undertaken his assessment with the owners present, and using Australian forms which referred to Australian legislation,
- the classification as menacing was appropriate for both dogs due to the behaviours observed.

The Panel moved into confidential session to deliberate on the matter at 11.04a.m.

The meeting went into confidential session at 11.04a.m. and resumed in public session at 11.19a.m.

Councillor McGurk noted that the legislation was such that dogs could be classified as menacing when observed to be threatening. He noted that the Panel had heard evidence from Dog Control Officer Mr Wood about the observed behaviour of dog Boston at 82 Waimea Road, and had subsequently heard from the other dog control officers who had visited 80 Waimea Road, where they had observed aggressive behaviour from dogs Rarka and Boston. It was noted that the dogs had to be restrained to be impounded

Councillor McGurk noted that the Panel had also heard from Mr Taylor who had confirmed that the dogs were his property, and had given possible explanations why the dogs behaved the way they did. It was noted that Mr Taylor had sought information from Nelson College about stones being thrown, provided an email from the neighbouring dentist (unverified sender), and provided evidence that dog Rarka was desexed, but not dog Boston.

Councillor McGurk spoke about the decision before the Panel, noting that under the Act, the consequences of classifying the dogs as menacing were not onerous, given the reduced risk to the public that would be achieved. He noted that the reports from the three experienced dog officers should be given appropriate weight when making this decision. He noted that having three officers on site may have contributed to more aggressive behaviour from the dogs.
