Dear Nick

Audit engagement letter: audit of the consultation document and long-term plan for the period commencing 1 July 2024

This audit engagement letter is sent to you on behalf of the Auditor-General, who is the auditor of all “public entities”, including the Nelson City Council (the Council), under section 14 of the Public Audit Act 2001. The Auditor-General has appointed me, John Mackey, using the staff and resources of Audit New Zealand, under sections 32 and 33 of the Public Audit Act 2001, to carry out the audit of the Council’s consultation document and long-term plan (LTP).

This letter outlines:

- the terms of the audit engagement and the respective responsibilities of the Council and me as the Appointed Auditor;
- the audit scope and objectives;
- the approach taken to complete the audit;
- the areas of audit emphasis;
- the audit logistics; and
- the professional fees.

1 Specific responsibilities of the Council for preparing the consultation document and the LTP

Our audit will be carried out on the basis that the Council acknowledges that it has responsibility for preparing the consultation document and LTP, by applying the Council's own assumptions, in accordance with the Local Government Act 2002 (the Act) (in particular, the requirements of Part 6 and schedule 10) and in accordance with generally accepted accounting practice in New Zealand. We assume that elected members are familiar with those responsibilities and, where necessary, have obtained advice about them.

For clarity, we note the following statutory responsibilities as set out in the Act:

- Section 93 of the Act requires the Council to have an LTP at all Times, and Part 1 of schedule 10 governs the content of the LTP.
- Section 111 aligns the financial information with generally accepted accounting practice.
- Section 83 (with reference to section 93A) sets out the special consultative procedure that the Council is required to follow to adopt the consultation document and LTP.
- Section 93C(4) requires an auditor's report on the consultation document, and section 94 requires a separate opinion on the LTP.

Please note that the audit does not relieve the Council of any of its responsibilities.

Other general terms are set out in the relevant sections of this letter and Appendix 1.

2 Our audit scope

The Act requires us to provide two separate reports, as follows:

- On the consultation document, a report on:
 - whether the consultation document gives effect to the purpose specified in section 93B; and
 - the quality of the information and assumptions underlying the information in the consultation document.
- On the LTP, a report on:
 - whether the LTP gives effect to the purpose in section 93(6); and
 - the quality of the information and assumptions underlying the forecast information provided in the LTP.

Item 6: 6 Audit NZ - Audit Engagement Letter for the Long Term Plan 2024-2034: Attachment 1

We expect our work to assess the quality of underlying information and assumptions to be a single, continuous process during the entire LTP preparation period.

Our focus for the first limb of each opinion will be to assess whether each document meets its statutory purpose. Given the different purposes of each document, we will assess the answers to different questions for each opinion.

Our focus for the second limb of each opinion will be to obtain evidence about the quality of the information and assumptions underlying the information contained in the consultation document and LTP. How we obtain this information depends on our judgement, including our assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the information and assumptions underlying the information contained in the consultation document and LTP, whether because of fraud or error.

Our audit opinions do not:

- provide a guarantee of absolute accuracy of the information in the relevant document;
- provide a guarantee that the Council has complied with all relevant legal obligations;
- express an opinion on the merits of any policy content; or
- include an opinion on whether the forecasts will be achieved.

3 Our approach to this audit

3.1 The content of the consultation document

The Act emphasises the discretion of the Council to decide what is appropriate to include in the consultation document and the associated consultation process. In deciding what to include in the consultation document, the Council must have regard to its significance and engagement policy, and the importance of other matters to the district and its communities.

We will need to understand how the Council has approached the task of applying its significance and engagement policy, and how it has considered the importance of other matters in deciding what to include in the consultation document. This will help inform our assessment of whether the consultation document achieves its statutory purpose.

3.2 Adopting and auditing the underlying information

Before adopting the consultation document, section 93G of the Act requires the Council to prepare and adopt the information that:

- is relied on by the content of the consultation document;

Item 6: 6 Audit NZ - Audit Engagement Letter for the Long Term Plan 2024-2034: Attachment 1

- is necessary to enable the Auditor-General to issue an audit report under section 93C(4); and
- provides the basis for the preparation of the LTP.

The information to be prepared and adopted needs to be enough to enable the Council to prepare the consultation document.

We consider that local authorities will need to have thought comprehensively about how best to meet the requirements of the Act. Consistent with the guidance of Taituara (the Society of Local Government Managers), our view is that core building blocks of an LTP will be needed to support an effective consultation document. This will include, but not be limited to, draft financial and infrastructure strategies and the information that underlies them, including asset management information, assumptions, defined levels of service, funding and financial policies, and a complete set of financial forecasts.

We will work with management to understand the information proposed to be adopted and assess whether it will enable us to issue an audit report under section 93C(4).

In addition, the Time frames to consider and adopt the LTP after the consultation process will be tight. From a practical perspective, it will be important that the Council is well advanced with the preparation of the full LTP when it issues the consultation document. Otherwise, you may find it difficult to complete the work and adopt the full LTP before the statutory deadline. The same is true for the audit work. The more audit work that is able to be completed at the first stage of the process, the less pressure there will be on you and the audit team at the end of the process.

3.3 Control environment

The Council is responsible for establishing and maintaining accounting and internal control systems (appropriate to the size of the Council), supported by written policies and procedures, designed to prepare the consultation document and LTP, and to provide reasonable quality information and assumptions underlying the information contained in these documents.

Our approach to the audit will be to identify, confirm, and assess the Council's key processes and controls over the underlying information and the production of both the consultation document and the LTP. The purpose of this assessment is to enable us to plan the most effective and efficient approach to the audit work needed to provide our two audit opinions. Our assessment is not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Council's internal controls.

We will carry out a review of the control environment to help us understand the approach taken to develop the consultation document and LTP, develop expectations of what should be included in the consultation document and LTP, and identify areas of potential audit risk. This will involve discussions with elected representatives and selected staff throughout the Council, review of publicly available information about the Council, updating our knowledge of Council issues developed during recent years, and a review of Council minutes since the last audit review.

Our review of your self-assessment response (see below) and key controls relating to the underlying information and development of the LTP is useful to our initial assessment of audit risk and so the nature and extent of our overall audit work.

3.4 Project management, reporting deadlines, and audit progress

The development of the consultation document and LTP is a significant and complex project, and a comprehensive project plan is required for a successful LTP process. It is also essential that there is commitment throughout the organisation for the project, starting with the elected representatives. The involvement of senior management and elected representatives is important in deciding what to include in the consultation document.

The LTP has complex and inter-related information needs and draws together plans, policies, decisions, and information from throughout the Council and its community. We recognise that the Council will be doing its LTP preparation over an extended period. A more efficient and cost-effective audit can be achieved when audit work and feedback is provided in "real Time" or on an "auditing as you go" basis as the underlying information is developed.

Consequently, we will discuss with you and your staff the Council's approach to preparing and completing the LTP. We expect that the Council is approaching its preparation on a project basis and recognise that our audit work should "shadow" that project timetable. The success of this "auditing as you go" approach will depend on the Council's project management of the overall LTP process, which should include time for audit work at appropriate points in the process.

3.5 Self-assessment

To assist our audit planning, we intend to use a self-assessment process to assist with our risk assessment process. The self-assessment requires you to reflect on your most significant issues and risks, governance of the LTP project, and the systems and processes you have in place (particularly to meet the purposes in the Act for the consultation document and the LTP), asset management, performance management and reporting, and financial management.

The LTP self-assessment was sent to you on 28 September 2023.

The self-assessment is similar to those used with our audit of previous LTPs. The information provided through the self-assessment will be confirmed with you through discussion after its completion.

4 Our particular areas of audit emphasis

4.1 Impact of the legislated and planned Sector changes on the Council's forecasts

The response to manage the legislated and planned Sector changes has created significant uncertainty for local government organisations, as well as communities and businesses. The final status of these changes is not yet known including the Council's revenue assumptions and the level of service the Council provides in the future. In addition, the Council will need to consider the impact on its financial and infrastructure strategies, and key underlying assumptions such as population growth, capital expenditure programme and revenue from investments.

We will review Council's approach to considering the impacts and how this has been factored into the underlying policies, strategies and assumptions used to prepare the LTP.

4.2 Financial strategy and infrastructure strategy

The Act requires a local authority to prepare two key strategies as part of the LTP: the financial strategy and the infrastructure strategy.

The purpose of the financial strategy is to:

- facilitate prudent financial management by the local authority by providing a guide for the local authority to consider proposals for funding and expenditure against; and
- provide a context for consultation on the local authority's proposals for funding and expenditure by making transparent the overall effects of those proposals on the local authority's services, rates, debt, and investments.

The purpose of the infrastructure strategy is to:

- identify significant infrastructure issues for the local authority during the period covered by the strategy; and
- identify the principal options for managing those issues and the implications of those options.

The Act expects close alignment between the two strategies, and section 101B(5) allows for them to be combined into a single document.

Although the Act clearly sets the minimum requirements for these strategies, it does not define the only things that can be in a strategy. A good strategy should include what is needed to be a good quality strategic planning document. In the case of the infrastructure strategy, the principles of ISO 55000 should be considered, particularly where the Council is seeking to prepare a best practice strategy.

Item 6: 6 Audit NZ - Audit Engagement Letter for the Long Term Plan 2024-2034: Attachment 1

The Council, in common with the vast majority of councils, could improve its explanations on the effects of changes in land use on its finances.

The Act requires councils to present quantified limits on rates, rate increases, and borrowing. It is important for the Council to explain why it is relevant to use the specific limits set to assess its financial health or prudence.

The Council, in common with the vast majority of councils, could usefully improve its infrastructure strategy in the following ways:

- being clear on the condition of the Council's critical assets and the impact for the management of its infrastructure assets;
- better integration and/or consistency with its financial strategy; and
- clear explanation of the link between assets and the services they support by better description of the levels of service.

Our focus when reviewing both strategies is to assess whether the Council has met the purpose outlined in the Act and presented the strategies in a coherent and easily readable manner. Specifically, we will:

- confirm that the two strategies are appropriately aligned;
- understand the effect of the financial forecasts included in the infrastructure strategy on the prudence of the financial strategy; and
- assess the reasonableness of the prepared forecasts by:
 - understanding how the Council has applied the effect of its assumptions including, allowing for changing demographics, the implications of the changing climate, the condition and performance of critical assets, and levels of service on expenditure decisions and outlined the implications of these decisions in the strategies;
 - reviewing the Council's relationship between its renewal capital expenditure and depreciation expenditure forecasts; and
 - checking that the infrastructure strategy is appropriately inflated.

The Council's financial modelling is a significant component of the underlying information that supports both the financial strategy and infrastructure strategy. We will place particular emphasis on the integrity and effectiveness of the financial modelling of all local authorities.

An additional role played by these strategies is to facilitate accountability to the community. It is critical that these strategies are presented in such a way that they are engaging and informative, and support the presentation of issues, options, and implications presented in the consultation document.
